Policy

The Omen is a biweekly publication that is the world's only example of the consistent application of a straightforward policy: we publish all signed submissions from members of the Hampshire community that are not libelous. Send us your impassioned yet poorly-thought-out rants, self-insertion fan fiction, MS Paint comics, and whiny emo poetry: we'll publish it all, and we're happy to do it. The Omen is about giving you a voice, no matter how little you deserve it. Since its founding in December of 1992 by Stephanie Cole, the Omen has hardly ever missed an issue, making it Hampshire's longest-running publication.

Your Omen submission (you're submitting right now, right?) might not be edited, and we can't promise any spellchecking either, so any horrendous mistakes are your fault, not ours. We do promise not to insert comical spelling mistakes in submissions to make you look foolish. Your submission must include your real name: an open forum comes with a responsibility to take ownership of your views. (Note: Views expressed in the Omen do not necessarily reflect the views of the Omen editor, the Omen staff, or anyone, anywhere, living or dead.)

The Omen staff consists of whoever shows up for Omen layout, which usually takes place on alternate Thursday nights in the basement of Merrill in the company of a computer with an extremely inadequate monitor. You should come. We don't bite. You can find the Omen on other Thursdays in Saga, the post office, or on the door of your mod.

Grace Willey | B Corfman

Hullo friends.

Welcome to our color issue. Prettier than the child of a rainbow and a paint store. We are the pride ourselves in possibly being the prettiest publication on campus.

-Let's talk about sleep. Let's talk about the sweet embrace of slumberland. Let's talk about the yearning for the fluffy clouds of the dream world that only comes when we look too hard at Microsoft Word and fall asleep on the floor in front of our desk for twenty minutes at three to four hour intervals. Let's talk about why two all nighters in a row only leads to a life of deceit, self sabotage, and entry to the wrong side of the spirit world. Don't do it kids. Don't fuck up.

Meanwhile it has come to my attention that a number of students that interact with on a regular basis have not seen the 1979 cinematic classice The Muppet Movie. Whenever I meet someone who address this sad sad fact about their life my heart tears in two a little. How can you call yourself a film student and not understad the technical mastery of puppeteers wedged under the hood of a car making felt creatures look like they're driving it? For shame Hampshire students, for shame.

Um... I'm really tired and don't know what to talk about. Come to the Omen every other Thursday from 8 am to whenever in the Merrill A basement or submit stuff to omen@hampshire.edu. Have fun kids and uh... that's it.

Yours always,
Grace "Let Me Passionately Ramble About the Muppets at You While I Slowly Slip into Unconciousness" Willey

Hey everyone,

This section hasn't been emotionally charged/personal enough for a while, so - let's change that! I'm going to be talking about transness and DDOs/mental illnesses.

I've felt this way for a while but sort of been not comfortable saying it? But screw that. The trans (and LGB) communities are, as a whole, scared of developmental disorders and mental illnesses.

There's this rhetoric of like, 'no, non-cis gender identities and non-hetero sexual/romantic attractions aren't mental illnesses, they're real!'

And it's really important not to connect things that aren't connected - I'm pretty sick myself of people lumping together trans and LGB people.

But this isn't that. This is straight up ableism.

I don't feel safe, and this is a big part of the reason why. What the hell do people think developmental disorders are? Something that Other People have, that needs to be Fixed so that they're neurotypical?

Autism is me. It is as intrinsic a part of me as my gender is. I would be (am) as/more offended and hurt at the expectation that my autism be 'cured' as I am about the expectation that my transness be 'cured,' that I aspire to cis-ness.

No one wants to talk about transness as a mental illness or developmental disorder because people are ableist as shit. You know what? I feel like it's incredibly valid to view my transness as a developmental disorder. I am proud of my autism. I am proud of being trans.

Both of them are in my head.

Both of them are real.

BOTH OF THEM ARE REAL.

From my tumblr:
East coast things Californians understand:
-snow
-seasonal change (though we still don't get why one region's climate is more "real" than another's)
-winter
-precipitation
-cold
-goddammit I know what weather is
-the science behind why we can't find sourdough bread at any given store.

Submitted by Mika Holbrook

East coast things Californians don't understand:
-why it's warm out even though it's raining (humidity)
-why strangers are so unfriendly when you smile at them in public
-how people can only survive only on variations of starch and cheese
-the lingering sense of Old World propriety
-how Mexican food can be fucked up so badly
-the big deal with autumn if it only lasts two weeks
-the social priorities of people from Connecticut

Things Californians and East Coast people can mutually agree on: The necessity of road rage.

Childish Things

A DIV III BY Hamlet Cooper

HOW OLD ARE YOU?

Childish Things is a show that explores age and childishness as parts of identity and spaces of marginalization. This 40 minute audience-interactive performance asks the question, again and again:

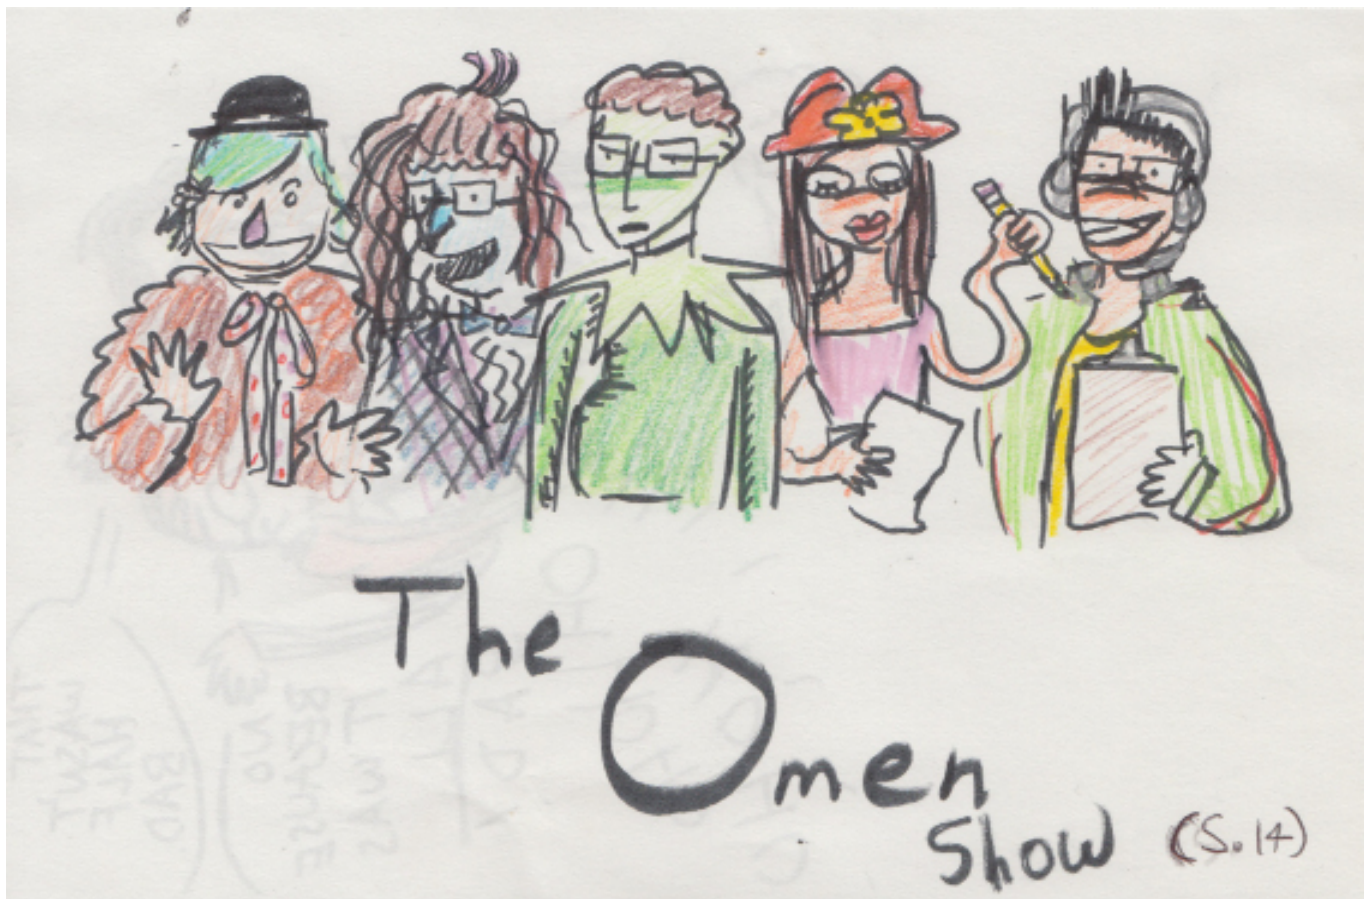

How old are you, really?

NOV 21 - NOV 23

Yes, it's true. Assassins has ended in the fastest week I've ever seen.

Amy Deyerle-Smith, AKA: "George Raymond Richard Martin" shot Loren Courtland Skinner IV, AKA: "The Piano Man" in his own dorm, after he made the mistake of going to fencing without a weapon. She is the last assassin standing.

Taken directly from the winners email:

"at 4:20, I left my mod, armed with a three-shot, a one-shot, some extra bullets and my skills.

at 4:30, I set myself up in the bathroom, with the door cracked open and a clear line of sight to The Piano Man's door.

Between 4:30, I read about six pages of Woody Guthrie's "House of Earth".

About 4:52 there was a clanging in the hall. I readied my weapon. The Piano Man walked down to his door. He was wearing tight white fencing pants that Jimmy Fallon would have envied. I fired on him thrice, but he deflected all shots with his fencing bag. I fired from my one-shot, but once again, it was defended. I had to reload, thinking this was the end, but it turned out that the Piano Man had foolishly gone fencing without a weapon.

The next shot from my trusty one-shot killed him dead. I then shot his corpse with every shot in my three, just for satisfaction."

Volume 43, Issue 5 · The Omen

Amy also has the highest death count, having killed 6. ForestStalker was runner-up for death kills with a total of 5. Congrats to you both, as well as The Piano Man, but especially Amy.

Thank you all for playing Assassins, and play again next year!

Trees beyond the sky-Matt Wysocki

Some tree in the sky
But Sky is upside down
The fish don't swim in sky
Cuz they all be dead

TEhhhhhhhhH
Why am I doing this!!
WhhhhhhHhhhaaaaaAaaaaaaa
My ship is going to leave soon
DaaaAaaaaaaaahhhhhhhh
I follow before the path floods

Yet all these boundless borders give me so much.
I should be thankful
But really, I remember little
Beyond the moment, beautiful as it may be,
There is little more than what I can see
In the world(s) a root Wishes,
Upon stars, Across a universe
A Home is alive,

FeedIn Fishies!!
For just a moment the sky flipped me off!
Even though I tried to save Everyone!

Trees don't actually last!
All the roots in the world cannot be sustained

Homes seek people to be inside them
Yet they cannot sustain them for a voyage

all the people must be little as the home is small for there is no room to Accomidate fish one must grind
as the sky is realigned and reined
into a singular floating universe
Drought is unusually lifedrainig

The sky is so close now
Even the trees are beyond Sky!

 Skeleton cheerleader wins #Deathfest with reenactment of the end of Hamlet that actually killed everyone involved. Beautiful.

 eavesdropping on firsties talking about how much fun they had at #deathfest

Hey all! I can't make the Omen meeting tonight and this is NOT A SUBMISSION, but I think as a follow-up to your article of things that could be bought with the budget for Hampshire Halloween should be a list of things that have been at previous Hampshire Halloweens that weren't at this one. For example:

Multiple music tents
 Multiple water stations with candy
 Copious amounts of candy in general
 Glow bracelets
 House office & living room decorations (at least I didn't notice anything special, certainly not living up to some past Halloweens.)

Those are what I can think of at the moment.

And maybe say how much Hampshire Halloween has cost in the past.

Cheers!

THINGS THAT YOU SHOULD STOP DOING IN SAGA

(by Nora Miller, disgruntled saga student worker)

1. Leaving your plates/cups/silverware/disgusting pile of pasta on the tables. THIS IS NOT YOUR PARENTS' HOUSE AND THIS IS ALSO NOT A RESTAURANT. I am not your busboy! Get your shit together!!!
2. Talking about how much you hate the food when you are literally standing in front of the hot line like five feet from the people who worked all day cooking it. Do you have any idea how whiny you sound? If you have issues with the ingredients that Bon Appetite is providing, take that up with the management, not the workers. It is not their fault and you are being an asshole.
3. Putting random bullshit in the waffle maker. I WANT CHOCOLATE CHIP SPRINKLE PIE WAFFLES TOO BUT IT LITERALLY BREAKS EVERYTHING
4. Speaking of the waffle maker, I regularly find entire waffles behind the machine. I don't understand. Are you just making waffles and then changing your mind? If so, why don't you give it to someone/throw it away? You're literally hiding your mistake waffles.
5. Trying to steal really large items. Like a whole fucking pie. As an employee, I need to stop you, and as your peer that's really awkward.
6. Literally shout-crying because of the lack of guacamole at the DIY station while an employee wipes up your mess right in front of you and you ignore her. Yeah, *name omitted*, I'm looking at you.
7. Putting a salt shaker upside down on top of a pepper shaker. I saw you do it with a completely straight face. I literally spent five minutes with the pepper shaker upside down over the trash can waiting for it to stop shaking out salt. What the fuck?

Weird Brain Stuff

11/13/14 - feeling of "mental wall," accompanied by after-effects of headache. Mind feels foggy. Feel like I have to physically access things and I can't. Thoughts lie solely right behind my eyes. Headache - both sides, worse w/ excessive movement. Most likely from sleeping too long. Pressure, not pulsating.

DEAR PERSON

WHO,

IN THE LAST ISSUE OF THE OMEN,

DREW CRUELY AND COMICALLY

VERY TRIGGERING

DEPICTIONS OF HORRIBLE SCENARIOS
THAT COULD HAVE TAKEN PLACE

ON HAMPSHIRE HALLOWEEN,

THE NEXT TIME YOU WANT TO DO THAT....

PLEASE,

DON'T FUCKING
DO IT!
